New leadership for Kentucky organizations

KENTUCKY AUTHORITY FOR EDUCATIONAL TELEVISION

■ Gov. Ernie Fletcher has appointed Timothy R. Coleman, of Morgantown, and Sarah J. "Sally" Hamilton, of Lexington, to the Kentucky Authority for Educational Television, the governing body of Kentucky Educational Television (KET). Coleman is the commonwealth's attorney for Kentucky's 38th Judicial Circuit, which consists of Butler, Edmonson, Hancock and Ohio counties. Hamilton is the chief of staff and the acting deputy secretary for the Kentucky Education Cabinet.

KENTUCKY COUNCIL ON POSTSECONDARY EDUCATION

■ Gov. Ernie Fletcher has appointed Virginia G. Fox, Bryan A. Blavatt, Joseph S. Weis and Dr. Suvas G. Desai to the Council on Postsecondary Education. Fox retired last fall as secretary of the Kentucky Education Cabinet and previously served as executive director and CEO of Kentucky Educational Television and president and CEO of the National Educational Telecommunications Association. Blavatt is superintendent of Boone County Schools. Weis is plant manager for Jones Plastic and Engineering. Desai is a Lexington urologist and former assistant professor of urology at the University of Kentucky College of Medicine.
